A touching story about a cat on his journey to self-discovery

Remi is a cat who spends most of his time goofing around the park where he lives. One day, bored and tired of doing nothing, he decides to start looking for a job. He thinks of becoming the next president but it doesn't work out. Then, he searches for other possibilities, maybe working as an opera singer or even... becoming a thief!

But none of these occupations seemed to fit with his personality. Will Remi be able to find a job that makes him happy? He will later conclude that the place where he belongs needs him and what he was doing there happily but with no recognition was a real job.

Florencia Herrera. Sociologist by profession and due to her profound knowledge in Family Studies and Disability Studies, she has become a children's book author who cares for inclusiveness. Florencia has lived with a visual disability for years and that is why she is always next to her guide dog, "Otto", who recently became the main inspiration for her new book "Óscar".

Antonia Herrera. She studied Plastic Arts and later specialized in digital animation. She has worked as an art and animation director in different projects, including the Oscar winner for Best Animated Short Film, "Bear Story", at the 88th Academy Awards®.
