

THERE'S A SUPERHERO IN THE GARDEN

Francisca Bravo Olguín

REVIEW

This is a simple and sensitive story, in which a very observant little boy changes his fears for understanding, empathy and action: he devises a plan to go on the aid of some little striped buzzers that inhabit his garden.

This story is a call to heroism, to wear a striped suit, to get our hands dirty with mud, to grab the tools and the watering can, and to bomb the earth with seed bombs!

Would you like to help? Our book will teach you how to create your seed balls, suggesting a beautiful activity to do with the little ones at home in order to encourage them in this noble mission.

Superhero, are you ready? Duty calls!
